STILL THEY LINGER.

Gen. Artz's Commonweal Army Postpones Its March.

SAYS HE WILL LEAVE TOMORROW.

The Commissary Wagon Makes a Tour Today—A Mysterious Veiled Woman Throws Bundles into It.

The Topeka members of Gen. Sanders' army of commonwealers are still in the city. They still say they will go tomorrow, but they have said the same thing every day this week, and this is enough to convince the skeptical that "tomorrow" never comes. The reason of this latest delay is that by waiting one more day horses instead of Coxeysites will suffer from the bad roads evil. Instead of walking to Leavenworth the men will be taken to Lawrence and probably the rest of the way by farmers in wagons. The Topeka Coxeysites held a meeting on East eighth street last night as they have nearly every night this week. Captain Artz does not give the men a chance to let their zeal and enthusiasm in the movement waver, and G. C. Clemens and others were there to fill them up with more sound Commonweal doctrine. In the back of the hall stood two farmers, one with a heavy beard and top boots and the other with a sorrel mustache and a cob pipe. Captain Artz discovered later that he had been entertaining angels unawares, for the man said if Artz would postpone the starting one more day they would take him as far as Lawrence in wagons, and guaranteed that four other farmers would be on hand at sunrise Friday morning to transport the rest of them. The thought of walking twenty-six miles over bad roads is not a happy one even to honest unemployed workmen enlisted in a noble cause, and the proposition of the two farmers was received with cheers.

Captain Artz didn't even wait to ask the farmers their names or what part of Shawnee county they live in. He and the men were satisfied with the proposition and agreed to wait.

Supposing the farmers shouldn't show up? Six bushels of potatoes, four sacks of corn-meal, one sack of flour and two bundles of meat is the liberal donation made to Captain Artz's army this morning by the merchants, professional men and citizens generally of Topeka. To secure this supply of provisions forty-two commonwealers, headed by Lieutenant Foster, and followed by the commissary wagon, marched from Tenth and Kansas avenue straight north to Gordon street, a distance of fully two miles, and then marched back again. The men also gave a dress parade drill in nearly every block in which tactics, maneuvering and other military things were expounded. The men are getting so they can make a lightning change from single file to double, and they can mark time in a way that would make the Battery B boys green with envy. They don't march very well, but the general aspect would be better if the men dressed more alike, were nearer a size, and carried guns. The six-footer generally gets next to "Shortie," and the effect is not a military one. The procession attracted a great deal of attention—more attention than provisions, in fact.

A North Topeka commission merchant donated the potatoes. Webster & Co. was the only grocery firm that donated anything. It was flour.

There was one great mystery in connection with the parade. A "woman in dark blue, a typical 'veiled lady,' dropped three bundles in the commissary wagon between the JOURNAL office and Fourth street. She wore a thick, black veil. Who is this mysterious "unknown?" Why should she thus hide her face? Where did she get her bundles? What did they contain? Here a big mystery and a chance for Captain Pete Gish to become famous.

The commissary wagon was driven by A. L. Duff, a teamster who lives at 408 Chandler, and who sympathizes with the movement. He will drive the Coxeysites tomorrow as far as Lawrence.

THE HIGHEST AWARDS.
Royal Baking Powder has all the Honors—In Strength and Value 20 Per Cent. above its Nearest Competitor.

The Royal Baking Powder has the enviable records of having received the highest award for articles in its class—greatest strength, purest ingredients, most perfectly combined—wherever exhibited in competition with others. In the exhibitions of former years, at the Centennial, at Paris, Vienna and at the various State and Industrial fairs where the test of the baking powders was invariably awarded the Royal Baking Powder the highest honors.

GLOOMY TIMES AHEAD.

The End of the World Coming on June 6, Republican Convention Day.

"The delegates to the state convention will meet in Topeka on June 6, and the world will be destroyed."

That is the prediction of R. P. Stine of Leavenworth, who has written to Gov. Lewelling, giving him a history of his revelation.

His letter is like that of many other crankish who write to the governor, but he has an occasional rational thought.

"The reason the earth will be destroyed is because the wrath of God against the old crowd can no longer be appeased. He came on earth in the person of Mary Lease and swept Bill Higgins, John J. Ingalls, Governor Humphrey and D. O. McCray out of the way, but they are back and another one of them—Morrell—will be nominated for governor, and this time Christ will appear in a flame of fire and destroy all these wicked men. The dark days are about to fall upon us, but God will protect the good."

All this was given to Stine in a vision, and his prophetic mind then lapses into poetry:

"Shakespeare wrote the tragedy,
God does change the play;
But Stine writes the drama
Upon the judgment day.
This world is but a vision,
The plainly to be seen,
Before we had the nightmare,
Henceforth we'll have the dream."

The prophet then leaves the discussion of political long enough to say:

"Pope Leo the tenth said:
In this earthly strife,
Mary Lease—that noble woman,
Is the long lost Christ.
Barney Kelly is the Judas,
Bill Higgins is the snake,
You are the leader of the lost,
It is God's own chosen state."

This is only one of many letters received at the governor's office every week from cranks in every part of the United States. The governor never sees them. Private Secretary Closs opens them and after glancing at them drops them in the waste basket.

ARRANGED FOR PRIMARIES

The Republican Central Committee of the Thirty-sixth District.

The Republican central committee of the Thirty-sixth legislative district held a meeting last night at the office of F. H. Foster in the Columbian building.

The members of the committee present were W. H. Fisher, George Gerbrich, Rufus Knott, N. D. McGinley, F. H. Foster, Silas R. R. and A. K. Rodgers. All three candidates for representative were present and four candidates for county commissioner watched the proceedings of the meeting.

Before the meeting was called to order a majority of the committee present had agreed that the Australian ballot, the system to be reported at primary primaries would be the proper thing and the committee acted accordingly, although F. H. Foster made a speech in opposition to the Crawford county system which he said was just what the vicious politicians wanted.

The delegate system Mr. Foster claimed, is a nearer approach to the method of choosing by majority rather than by plurality. He illustrated by saying that four good and well qualified men and one vicious man might be running for the same office. It most often happened that this proportion fairly represents a political contest at primary elections. The fifth man might be a gambler or joint keeper or a sympathizer with such. The friends of the four men would practically divide the vote of those who favor good government and the election of good men to office.

The candidates for representatives and county commissioners will be nominated on the same day the county officers are nominated, June 16, and there will be two polling places in each ward.

THE SUMMER RESORT.

Popular Vinewood Park Will Offer Increased Attractions.

Vinewood park is already a popular place of resort, easily reached by a East Side circle, ride of four miles for a five cent fare.

Two of the prominent and well qualified amusement managers in this city have made an arrangement under which they will assume the full control of the beautiful resort, Vinewood park, during the coming season. An elaborate programme has been arranged, backed by men of experience, who will bring some great attractions to Vinewood this season and make it a popular resort.

Sunday next has been fixed upon as the opening day, when the list of attractions will include a balloon ascension, boating, baseball games and an open concert by a fine band of music. Admission only 10 cents.

The regular days thereafter will be Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday of each week. It is safe to predict that Vinewood park will draw excursionists the remainder of the summer season.

PARTY PROHIBITIONISTS

Select Delegates From Shawnee County to the State Prohibition Convention.

The party Prohibitionists of Shawnee county held their county convention last night, at 620 Kansas avenue.

There was a large attendance of both men and women, and delegates were elected to the state and congressional conventions to be held at Emporia June 12 and 13.

J. W. Sidwell was chairman of the convention and A. G. Carruth was secretary.

The following list of delegates and alternates was agreed upon to attend both conventions:

Delegates—J. K. Mayberry, J. L. Eldridge, Miss O. P. Bray, J. D. Smith, J. F. White.

Alternates—J. R. Silver, Rev. H. W. Hampe, Miss Millie Young, Mrs. A. G. Carruth, M. F. Childs.

The committee on resolutions consisting of Miss O. P. Bray, Mrs. J. R. Silver, J. L. Eldridge, S. A. Clay and Rev. M. F. Childs submitted the following report which was adopted:

We, as prohibitionists of Shawnee county, Kansas, in convention assembled at Topeka, May 30, 1894, do hereby acknowledge Almighty God as the source of all government.

We do hereby demand the suppression of the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation and transportation of all alcoholic liquors as a beverage by state and federal legislation.

We look with deep concern on the depression of business and the strife between capital and labor throughout our state and nation.

We charge the depression and strife largely to the use, at a beverage, of intoxicating liquors, and we believe that the best remedy for hard times is the enactment and enforcement of state and national prohibition.

We demand a better enforcement of the prohibitory laws of our state, and that the chief executive of the state use the power vested in him to suppress rebellion against our constitution and laws.

We reaffirm our belief that the only party for which our votes can be cast where they will tell, is for that party which sincerely and positively declares for prohibition and would enforce it if in power.

We demand the enforcement of existing laws relative to the suppression of lotteries in our state, and such further legislation that may be necessary to suppress the growing gambling evil.

We believe the woman has the same natural right of suffrage that man has, and she should have the same political right and we declare in favor of the adoption of the pending amendment to our state constitution.

The delegates to the state convention are unimpaired, but it is understood that a majority of them will favor the nomination of Rev. J. D. Botkin, should Ex-Governor John P. St. John positively decline to be a candidate.

There was no opposition to the adoption of the resolution, although short speeches were made by J. K. Silver, Rev. H. W. Hampe, G. F. Kimball, Mrs. Millie Young, Mrs. R. Hedges and Mrs. M. F. Childs.

WINNERS AT WASHBURN.

Harry Whitford Given First Place in the Oratorical Contest.

Judge John Guthrie, General James Caldwell, Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, Rev. A. S. Embree, Mr. George Whitcomb and John Calvin thought that Harry Whitford should receive first place and Aaron Breck second, for their oratorical ability at the Washburn contest last night. They did make good speeches and the large audience that assembled at Washburn college last evening to hear the five young gentlemen, would probably have given the same decision as the judges.

Mr. Whitford's subject was "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde in the Nation." He received a prize of $15. Mr. Breck's oration was "The Evolution of Brotherhood." He will get $10. The others who tried to get the prizes were Frank F. Strong, N. O. Bartholomew and Edwin S. Secrest.

Some excellent music was furnished by Misses Adelaide Stich, Minnie Bishop Lizzie Pond, Ida Behan and Katie Arnold, and Messrs. Paul Torrington and Dana McVicar.

Tomorrow evening takes place the annual address before the literary societies by Dr. Richard Cordley of Lawrence. After the address the Gamma Sigma Literary society will hold a banquet at the library building.

Cheer after cheer was given for Radford. Radford is an Englishman and has been in the United States ten years. He uses the best of language and can talk fluently upon any subject but his special theme is the labor question.

He is an engraver of great skill and boasts that he has done work for the royal family of England.
